CONCERT NOTES

Applause for each choir is appropriate when members enter the stage. The conductor and accompanist are always applauded as they walk out onto the stage. Clapping stops as soon as the conductor steps onto the podium and raises the baton. Applause for individual selections is always appropriate as soon as the piece has ended and the conductor has lowered his/her baton. Silence is of utmost importance during the concert. In addition to demonstrating respect to the performers and conductors, we wish to ensure the highest possible quality of recording for our performances. If you arrive after the concert has begun, do not enter until there is a break in the program, such as the end of a work. Once in the hall, please refrain from movement unless it is an emergency, and if possible, wait until the end of the selection. If you must leave during a selection, wait until an appropriate break to re-enter the hall. Please turn off all cell phones, alarm watches, and beepers in the auditorium. Flash photography is prohibited during the performances.

Recordings may be ordered in the Twichell Auditorium Lobby.
